

DPM Specification

DPM stands for Dark Horse Package Manager. DPM is a lightweight, secure, and transactional package manager for Dark Horse Linux. It is designed to be build system agnostic.

DPM strives for simplicity, reliability, observability, and separation of concerns during the management of package lifecycles on Linux operating systems.

It is intended to operate in home and enterprise environments with full FIPS, LSB, XDG, where applicable, and other standards compliance.